Apocalyptic Enlightenment

Beloved Velatropans! Apocalyptic enlightenment! Only a spiritual foundation and a spiritual order of reality will be sufficient for our Earth. The practices of the synchronic order summarized and promoted through this quarterly newsletter have value only if understood in the new hierarchy of values epitomized by the Thirteen Moon/28 day calendar change and the Law of Time. Everyday the 12:60 world moves closer to the brink of its own self-destruction. Sectarianism of every kind becomes entrenched in its own narrow-mindedness. More than ever, the world is in need of a galactic spirituality to elevate the mind and purpose of the species as a whole above the conflict and alienation that now engulf us. The basis of galactic spirituality is to liberate the planetary human into full planetary consciousness. Only in this way will the planetary human realize that there is only galactic spirituality unifying all dimensions, all world systems -- UR of the Noosphere. The following few paragraphs were recently rediscovered. Originally handwritten into a little notebook in Japan, just prior to the World Congress on the Law of Time and Judgment Day Tribunal, the spiritual relevance of this little piece is appropriate precisely for this time.

Forget everything you know.
Do not try to comprehend with what you think you understand.

Pacal Votan was the supreme true man ("Halach Uinich") because he synchronized his life with the supreme cycle of the power of time: 13 66 560 - 13 85 540, cycle 73 of the solar-galactic 52-year cycles commenced at the beginning of the 13 baktun count, BC 3113. During this supreme 73rd cycle, AD 631 - 683, his realization and enlightenment encompassed the universal root of time and consciousness. The divine unity of the one mind which is the flower of liberation allowed the great Pacal to extend his mind by the divine ratios and proportions of the true science of time, into the minds of all the genuine prophets, sages, messengers and teachers -- human and nonhuman, past, present and future by the same divine ratios and proportions of the true science of time. The supreme true man Pacal Votan was able to establish the cycles of prophecy synchronized to the needs of the human being living in the cycle of darkness and error, equal to the enlightenment of all sages and seers. The supreme true man Pacal Votan was distinguished by his whole knowing of the science of galactic time, the self-liberated emanation of the life generating meditation of the mahabodhisattvas who have become the spiritual princes and kings of world systems evolved beyond what can now only be imagined -- Pacal Votan was the supreme avatar of the present cycle of human testing and transformation. Thanks to what we know of the lives and teachings of all the enlightened masters and messengers of the Old World, we can appreciate the nature of Pacal Votan's being as well as his mission. In fact, all of the essential qualities of all the messengers and teachers are summarized in the avatarship of Pacal Votan. Yet so singular was Pacal Votan in his knowledge and purpose that it is still necessary to set him apart so that we can truly understand his teachings and his prophecies, which are actually inseparable.

When we say that Pacal Votan was the supreme avatar of the present cycle of human testing and transformation, we can also add that his mission was to emanate the capstone of the search for truth on this planet. Pacal Votan more than any other such being was a true world teacher. This is because of his position in history and his knowledge which was profoundly prophetic and hence, for ourselves at the end of history, timely in every possible meaning of the word. The wisdom and power of Pacal Votan's teachings lies in the fact that they were essentially sealed for 1260 years, only to be telepathically released and revealed at this time, the conclusion of the thirteenth baktun.

To assure the unsealing of his wisdom following the opening of his tomb AD 1952, 60 years before the conclusion of the thirteenth and final baktun, AD 2012 (AD 692 - 1952 = 1260 years, AD 692 - 2012 = 1320) years, Pacal Votan prepared a final emanation to reveal his wisdom and to close the cycle. The avatic name given to the final emanation was to be Valum Votan, the realized form of the common earthling Jose Arguelles. Valum Votan is the third cosmic signature added to that of Quetzalcoatl Ce

Acatl Topiltzin, and the great Pacal himself to fulfill the mission of the galactic Mayan messengers on Earth.

The nature and prophecy of the teachings of Pacal Votan is to summarize and establish the Universal Religion on Earth. These are teachings that can only be realized by the planetary human, the human who is living in a minimal awareness of him or herself within the context of the whole Earth as it has come to be understood and experienced within the last baktun, especially since the advent of mechanization. The conditions of the final age of terror and ignorance cannot always be penetrated by the teachings of the great sages, prophets and messengers. In most cases the original teachings have become obscured by sectarian differences and acquired partial views of every kind. This is because in general the original teachings of enlightenment masters like Buddha or even prophets like Muhammad were circumscribed by local, regional and historical circumstances. The consciousness of the times of the masters was not yet planetary, though their messages and teachings were and still are timeless and universal.

The teaching of the universal religion presented by the supreme true man, Pacal Votan, takes all of this into account. It summarizes the power and truth of the original streams of spiritual insight of the great ones, while at the same time accounting for the conditioned and limiting circumstances of consciousness not yet exposed to a planetary perspective. At the same time, the teachings of the great Pacal take totally into consideration, the cumulative historic effects of partial, lopsided sectarianism and the mutually disintegrative impact of mechanization on human consciousness - the state of the mind of the planetary human at the end of the great thirteen baktun cycle.

From the perspective of the Universal Religion, the planetary human is more in need of all the teachings of the avatars and sages than in previous stages of development and yet the planetary human is the least capable of comprehending this very fact.

For this reason, the fundamental beginning premise of the teachings of Pacal Votan is summarized as "Apocalyptic Enlightenment:" Forget everything you know. Do not try to comprehend with what you think you understand.

This is not an anarchic supposition, but a preparation for self-reflective consciousness and discriminating awareness. Such an awareness may be expressed or felt as the sensation of a quality or being independent of one's identification or job, place, nationality, religious affiliation, etc., in other words a dawning perception of the nature of the world as it might actually be--conditioned, irrelevant, impermanent or transparent.

On the other hand, the very fact of being a planetary human is in itself a unique quality which distinguishes the present condition of human consciousness from all previous conditions. The planetary human is actually the material to be transformed into the next stage of intelligent evolution. It is for this reason alone that the teachings of Pacal Votan are totally distinct from all previous teachings -- they are the means and discipline for evolving ourselves into a genuinely planetary organism-not as an aggregate of individuals but as a whole telepathically unified bio-organism.

Welcome to the Noosphere - and NET Time

(Note: The following section is excerpted from the book by José Argüelles, Time and the Technosphere: The Law of Time in Human Affairs, to be published by Inner Traditions International early in the Red Planetary Moon Year. Though you may use this material for your own personal use, please do not reproduce or copy this in any way once you have downloaded it from from the internet.)

In the simplest aspect of our daily experience of time on Earth we have the full play of the law of alternation - day-night, sun-moon, North-South. Because we know the bipolar nature of the Earth dividing it into two geomagnetic fields, north polar and south polar, we can then define the complementary bipolar field of time, which divides the cycle of the Earth as it makes one rotation on its axis into one day-and- night. This entire unit, day-and-night is defined as a kin, the base unit of synchronic time measurement. From the perspective of the noosphere, day and night are a function of the two alternators - day alternator and night alternator which operate as the phasic motion of the rainbow brain of the noosphere working in tandem with the electromagnetic field. The two phasic alternators regulate the activation of photons (day) and the regeneration of photons (night) within the entirety of the life process of the biosphere.

"He created the heavens and the earth truthfully.
He rolls the night over the day and the day over the night.
He committed the sun and the moon, each running for a finite period.
Absolutely he is the Almighty, the Forgiving."
Quran, 39:5

Since the two alternators are also in interplay with the bipolar magnetic fields of the Earth, a four-part process magnetically distributed as an overall eight-part structure is revealed. The unit of one kin divides the rotational cycle of the earth in its orbit into four distinct phases daily and annually: the four daily points are defined by: the dawn, when the part of Earth you are in first experiences the solar photonic activation; by high noon (zenith), when the part of Earth you are in is in closest direct relation to the sun; by the twilight, when the photonic activation ceases and the sun disappears from view; and midnight (nadir), that point at which the point of earth you are on has turned to its farthest distance from the sun, the height of the cycle of photonic regeneration. This daily process is mimicked in the four points of equinox and solstice, where for either hemisphere, the equinoxes are the same as the points of dawn and twilight, and the solstices correspond either to high noon or midnight. Because of the magnetic polarity of the Earth, the four-part process is simultaneously experienced in opposite phases, i.e., winter in the North is summer in the South, hence the four-phased process yields a bipolar eight-fold structure.

"We rendered the night and the day two signs.
We made the night dark and the day lighted,
that you may seek provisions from your Lord therein.
This also establishes for you a timing system, and the means of calculation.
We thus explain everything in detail."
Quran 17:12

The Psi Bank Showing the Four Quadrants, Eight Seasonal Memory Plates, Twenty-four Psionic Nimboid Membranes and Twenty-four Runes of Elder Futhark

This four-part day-night seasonal process defines the structure of the four psi bank plates, which also coordinate the four-year cycles of the Earth.

The psi bank plates, the “nervous system” and control panel of the noosphere, are a complete function of the 13:20 timing frequency, and, hence, participate in the systematic regularity of the fourth-dimensional synchronic order. This means that the psi bank is the registration within the Earth’s magnetic field of the 13:20 timing matrix by which all of life and the planetary evolutionary process as a whole are regulated.

Simulating the four-part process of the Earth rotating on its axis in time, four stages per day, four seasons per year, in four year cycles - not to mention the four phases of the moon - four psi bank plates accommodating the bipolar field yield eight 260-unit 13:20 frequency information matrices. That is, each of the four psi bank plates conforms to a mirror symmetry of the bipolarity of Earth’s magnetic field. Each plate is divided by mirror symmetry into a 260-unit Northern and a 260-unit Southern hemispheric half, for a total of two bipolar matrices and 520 units per plate, or 2080 (520 x 4) units in all. These “units” are referred to as psi chrono units or time-bearing information units. The information for the different sequences of Earth’s biogeochemical evolutionary processes are all regulated by these time-bearing information units.

We have to understand that through the medium of universal cosmic time, the Earth, the Sun, every star, constellation and galaxy is coordinated in this way by the synchronic 13:20 frequency of time. It is the 13:20 frequency that establishes holonomic consistency in time throughout the universe. Earth’s noosphere is a lens of time. All cosmic information is focused through this lens. It is this noospheric lens of time that makes Earth into a geocosmic thought form.

The noospheric lens of time and mind has been operating ceaselessly since the beginning of the evolution of the Earth - but unconsciously. Since the noosphere is a function of the universal synchronic timing frequency, then its conscious activation must also come about through a superior mental coordination with this correct synchronizing timing frequency. The psi bank 13:20 frequency is consciously activated and registered at the human level by the mental engagement of the 13:20 matrix as enacted through the 260-day cycle. The interaction of the 260-day galactic cycle with the 365-day solar biotelepathic cycle defines one noospheric year, or one solar-galactic cycle of 52 human years (= 52 365-day solar orbits = 73 260-day galactic cycles). This great noospheric coordination of 52 solar orbits with 73 galactic cycles is fractally present in a single solar orbit, where 52 seven-day weeks = 73 five-day cycles known as chromatics. What is important in coming to understand the noosphere as Earth's geocosmic time lens and rainbow brain, is that we must change our perspective altogether from anthropocentric to noospheric, and in this way evolve into "homo noosphericus."

For the noosphere, the rainbow brain of planet Earth, time is different - it is slower and longer. From the noosphere's point of view, what we call a year is a solar orbit. What we call a day is a single rotation of Earth on its axis. The cycles of the moon are the lunar phasings which calibrate the synchronization of Earth in time. The Earth is not a spaceship. The Earth is a Timeship. As a Timeship, Earth is a function of the master synchronization frequency which coordinates and moves it in time through ever greater circles of inclusiveness and syntropic integration. Seen through the noospheric lens of time, the technosphere is a highly exaggerated acceleration of the biogeochemical continuum through highly artificial resource depleting means - it is but a smoking bubble whose fragile struts and frets are laced to together by transport and communication systems which yield a cacophony rather than a harmony. And for this reason, the disharmony of the bubble explodes on itself, releasing Earth from the prison of false time, into the fresh air of real time and the advance into the geocosmic splendor of the noosphere. Synchronized with the galactic cycles, the noospheric mind of the whole Earth is reckoned far differently from the artificial units of measure which condition the anthropocentric notions of time evolved in the era of "homo historicus."

Here is how the four-fold process of Earth in time is reckoned by the noosphere. Please note, in Noospheric Earth Time (NET), time is universal synchronization. At any given moment, it is always the same noospheric moment in time on Earth. Whether that moment is experienced on the night or day side of the Earth, that moment is simultaneous and encompasses both sides of the Earth at once. This because not only is time the factor of synchronization - $T(E) = Art$, where art is the result of any synchronization, but also because the velocity of time is infinitely instantaneous. By thinking that the Earth really does conform to the 24 hours of the clock, the humans have retarded their time sensibility, and consequently their artificial processes have become increasingly artless. In considering the Noospheric Time measurements, remember, you as a human, are but a cell in the biospheric organism, or, as we shall see, a chip of the noospheric rainbow brain.

Table of Noospheric Earth Time Units

1 Noospheric Earth minute = 1 day-and-night rotation of Earth on its axis =
1 kin.

28 Noospheric Earth minutes = 1 Noospheric Earth hour =
1 moon of 28 kin, where every 7-day week = one quarter Noospheric Earth hour = 7 kin.

13 Noospheric Earth hours (moons) = 1 Noospheric Earth day = 365 kin (days) =
1 solar orbit, or 1 human year
(= 13 NET hours x 28 minutes + 1 NET minute, "day out of time.")

4 Noospheric Earth days = 1 Noospheric Earth week =
4 solar orbits (years) = 1460 kin (days).

3 Noospheric Earth weeks + 1 Noospheric Earth day = 1 Noospheric Earth season =
13 solar orbits or thirteen human years.

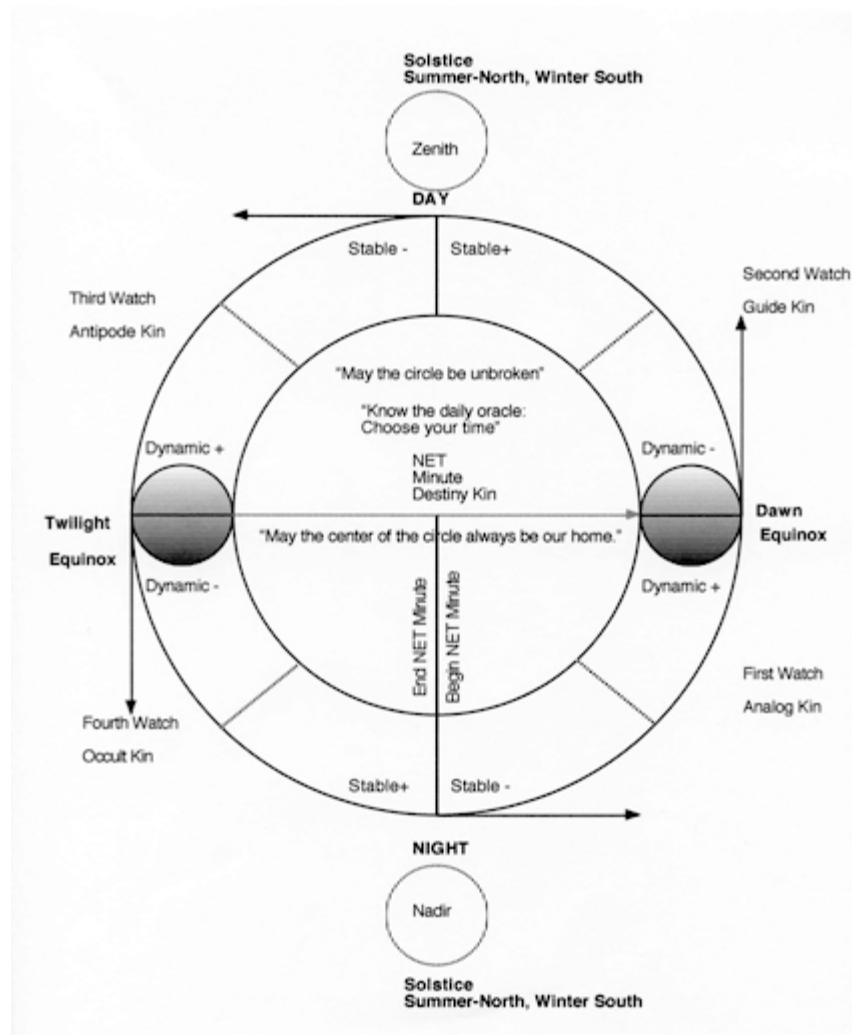

4 Noospheric Earth seasons = 1 Noospheric Earth year =
52 solar orbits (years, human time) = 73 260-day galactic cycles = 18980 kin (days).

5 Noospheric Earth years = 1 Noospheric time chord = 260 solar orbits
20 Noospheric time chords = one fifth Noospheric evolutionary sub-cycle = 5200 solar orbits =
1 Noospheric Century of 100 Noospheric Earth years.

5 Noospheric evolutionary sub-cycles = one galactic evolutionary day =
 26,000 solar orbits = 5 Noospheric Earth centuries or 500 Noospheric Earth years of 52 solar orbits each.

As the measure of the mind of the Earth, the Noospheric Earth Time (NET) reckoning units coordinate consciousness as a planetary, or actually, a solar-planetary phenomenon. For instance, if one NET day is a single 365-day solar orbit of the Earth, dawn of the noospheric Earth day is experienced as the spring equinox, but the noosphere is bipolar. So the dawn is also simultaneously the autumn equinox or twilight of the other polar magnetic half of the Earth. To fully engage and grasp such a thought is to expand the limits of consciousness. Like dolphins who never sleep but only rest one half of their brain at a time, so it is with the rainbow brain of the noosphere. Such consciousness has nothing to do with the workings of the everyday egoic human consciousness which can only understand things according to a limited frame of reference defined by its own limited and highly conditioned ego needs. The geocosmic consciousness of the noosphere can only be apprehended as a single telepathic unity in and by which all members of any given species or organism are organized. To consider that the noosphere itself could become the organizing principle of the human species as a whole is to engage in conscious mental evolution.

NET Minute Model for Daily Use

The Graphic NET Minute Model is intended for daily use.

The holonomic four-fold process divides the NET Minute into four "watches" corresponding to the oracle of the daily kin. For instance, today is Red Rhythmic Dragon. The entire NET Minute is then known as Red Rhythmic Dragon, and its position is the center of the circle. But during each of the four watches, the Red Rhythmic Dragon is enhanced or influenced by its Analog -first watch, White Rhythmic Mirror -- its Guide, second watch --Red Rhythmic Dragon or power doubled -- its antipode, third watch -- Blue Rhythmic Monkey -- and its Occult, fourth watch -- Yellow Galactic Sun. In this way the NET Minute Model becomes a way for making the daily Oracle a part of the entire synchronic program for organizing your daily life.

Note also that “zenith” or high noon is when the sun is directly overhead, while “nadir” or midnight, is when the point of the Earth upon which you find yourself is absolutely farthest from the sun. The nadir marks the ending of one NET minute and the beginning of another. Kin after Kin, each NET Minute keeps you in the spin! Slow down your time! Learn to walk to a wizard’s pace! Enjoy Earth’s consciousness absorbed into the galactic brain, the noosphere awakened in galactic time!
